OKLAHOMA

AS SEEN BY THE GREEN GUIDE

AT THE END OF THE RAINBOW

By George S. Clason

From time immemorial the "Pot of Gold at the End of the Rainbow" has been the lure that drew men of imagination and energy into new countries. As early as 1514 treasure seekers entered the present State of Oklahoma. Hernando Coronado, a Spanish adventurer, with his band of followers, passed through Oklahoma only twenty-two years after the discovery of America, so historians tell us. These bold Spaniards were seeking the end of the rainbow. They called it Quivira, the land of fabled wealth.

Without knowing it, they passed over a district that was destined eventually to produce more wealth than their wildest imagination could conceive. In the past twenty years the output of the oil and gas fields of Oklahoma has exceeded in value the products of all the gold mines of the North American Continent during the same period.

THE GREAT RUSH INTO OKLAHOMA

At high noon on April 22, 1889, another band of seekers after the end of the rainbow stood lined up around the boundary of the present State of Oklahoma awaiting the bugle call of the U. S. Cavalry that should announce the throwing open for entry of an entire commonwealth. They were serious, eager men from North and South, and many of them were chosen by a generous fate to participate in those treasures that Don Coronado could not have used had he found them.

As the clear notes of the bugles sounded forth that momentous day the greatest land rush in history was on. To all parts of the state rushed these hardy homeseekers and staked their claims. What had previously been cross-road settlements and Indian trading posts, became almost over night thriving towns and villages. The vacant prairies were turned into farms, and the hustling, busy commonwealth of Oklahoma had been born.

HOW A STATE WAS MADE IN RECORD TIME

Neither before nor since has a government of such proportions been founded and built in the same length of time. On November 16, 1907, just eighteen and one-half years after the first white settlement, Indian Territory and Oklahoma Territory were admitted to the Union of States under the name of Oklahoma.

AGRICULTURE, OKLAHOMA'S GREATEST INDUSTRY

While much attention is given to the wonderful industrial growth of Oklahoma, its possibilities in agriculture stand out as the predominant feature. Adapted to diversified crops, here may be raised corn, oats, wheat, prairie hay, fruit and berries of all kinds suited to a temperate zone, kafir, native grasses, livestock, alfalfa, timothy and red-top clover, cotton, Bermuda grass, Japan clover, kafir sorghum, Soudan grass for hay, peanuts, broom corn, milo and feterita. Garden truck is prolific and is of commercial value. Cotton is king in the southern counties. It is grown wherever the soil is suitable, but it thrives best in the middle and southern counties.

Oklahoma is a fruit country. Nature so ordained it, and planted here no less than twenty-five varieties of wild fruits. The apple, the Alberta peach and the other tree fruits prove quite profitable. Apple orchards thrive especially in the limestone soil of Delaware, Mayes, Cherokee and Adair counties of the northeast. Peaches grow in abundance and to great perfection in middle Oklahoma.

FARM OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE NEWCOMER

Oklahoma has proven to be the "end of the rainbow" for thousands of its farmers. The discovery and development of the vast oil fields made many landowners independently wealthy. Later the discovery of the extensive lead and zinc-bearing veins did the same for many more. The great industrial activities created by these industries developed a local demand for farm products that has brought a very general prosperity to the farmers of the entire state.

Oklahoma is a great farming state today, although still undergoing rapid development. Land in many localities can be secured at very reasonable prices and upon long-time terms.

The State of Oklahoma loans the school funds to farmers at 5 per cent, with the privilege of paying on the principal annually, to assist in buying and improving farms.

Here, those who want land, improved or unimproved, can find it at moderate prices, and by making their homes here they can grow up with the country and become independent just as the earlier settlers have done in other states.

The State Board of Agriculture at Oklahoma City will gladly furnish further information in regard to agriculture.

OKLAHOMA LIVESTOCK, BLUE RIBBON WINNERS

Immediately associated with farming in Oklahoma is the livestock industry. Large numbers of sheep, horses and cattle are raised. Especially important are the mules, which are the equal of the far-famed "Missouri mules." Thoroughbred livestock from Oklahoma may usually be found adorned with blue ribbons at the big national stock shows of the country.

MINERAL RESOURCES OF FABULOUS VALUES

In the value of natural mineral resources Oklahoma is one of the richest states in the Union. These include oil, gas, coal, lead, zinc, asphalt, shale, clay, glass sand, sand and gravel beds, sandstone, limestone, marble, gabbro, cement, gypsum, salt, iron, manganese, tripoli volcanic ash, copper and mineral water.

Information about the state's mineral resources can be secured by addressing the State Geologist, Norman, Okla.

OIL FROM A HUNDRED PRODUCING FIELDS

Oklahoma leads all states in the production of oil. There are over 100 oil pools in the state, most of them being in the eastern half, but the oil-producing area is extending to the west. According to the State Geologist, over half of the state is in the probable oil-producing region. Landowners receive substantial incomes from leases, bonuses and royalties.

NATURAL GAS PIPED TO NEIGHBORING STATES

Oklahoma also leads in the production of natural gas. More than half the state is supplied with this cheap and convenient fuel. Not only are all the leading cities of the state supplied, but most of the towns and villages, and many farms in or near the gas wells have natural gas at a low price. Oklahoma gas is pumped to Kansas City, Topeka, Joplin, Wichita, Fort Worth and other cities outside of the state.

OKLAHOMA LEAD AND ZINC HELPED WIN THE WAR

Most of the lead and zinc is mined in the northeast corner of the state. Here are some of the richest mines in the United States. As in the case of oil and gas, the farmers' interest is chiefly concerned in leases, bonuses and royalties received, in addition to the excellent market afforded by the thousands engaged in mining.

COAL FIELDS OF VAST EXTENT

There are about 20,000 square miles of coal lands in about twenty counties of eastern Oklahoma. Most of it is high-grade bituminous coal. In many places coal crops out along the small streams, and the farmers strip it to secure fuel for home consumption. Small towns are supplied in this way. Millions of tons of coal are mined annually, adding in numerous ways to the industrial growth and general prosperity of the state.

Most of the gypsum is found in the western part of the state. There are ledges twenty to forty feet thick extending for a hundred miles or more. There are numerous large mills employed in manufacturing cement, stucco, alabastine and plaster of paris.

Deposits of asphalt are found in various places, mostly in southern Oklahoma. It occurs chiefly as rock asphalt, but it sometimes occurs in a nearly pure semi-fluid, viscid state. The abundance of this mineral and the low cost of mining make the asphalt industry most profitable. The asphalt deposits are estimated to contain 50,000,000,000 tons.

FINE FORESTS OF PINE AND HARDWOOD

The state contains about 3,500,000 acres of timber, of which 60,800 or more acres, lying in Comanche

County, are a forest reserve. The timber areas include pine and hardwood. The pine forests grow in the Ouachita Mountains, which rise in the southeastern counties of McCurtain, Pushmataha, Latimer and Le Flore. The hardwood forests also are in the eastern end of the state. The hardwood trees are white oak, post oak, red oak, scarlet oak, hickory and black walnut, and the greater forests are in McCurtain, Pushmataha, Le Flore, Latimer, Adair and Cherokee counties. The other counties of this end of the state also contain hardwood timber.

THE INDIAN CITIZENS OF OKLAHOMA

There are few full-blood Indians, and still fewer blanket Indians in the state, and they in only certain localities. One might travel the state from end to end and not see a person he would recognize as an Indian. Some of the leading bankers, merchants, professional men, farmers and stock growers are Indians. Three members of Congress from Oklahoma are Indians. A United States Senator from Oklahoma is an Indian, and he is a leader in the Senate, being Chairman of the Finance Committee.

The Indians have no tribal government now. They are in all essential particulars just like other folks and live under the same laws. During the great war the Indian youths marched to the front side by side with the other patriotic sons of this great democracy.

LIBERAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

Oklahoma has a permanent school fund (money, bonds and land) of about $65,000,000. Liberal school laws guarantee the opportunity for at least a high school education to every boy and girl.

The public school system of the state comprises the usual ward and high schools in the cities, and district and consolidated schools, of which there are more than 100, in the country. The larger cities have high school edifices of noble architecture and perfect equipment. That at Oklahoma City, costing $750,000, is said to be one of the most complete high schools in the United States.

There are no mixed schools in the Oklahoma system of education. Separate schools of equal facilities and equipment are furnished for the two races in the several counties, and the law makes it compulsory for them to be so maintained. Likewise, the state maintains a separate university and normal school for negroes, and a university and normals for whites.

OKLAHOMA'S GREAT STATE UNIVERSITY

The seat of the State University is Norman, in Cleveland County. The Legislature appropriates liberally for the support of the institution. There are 200 instructors in the faculty and about 3,000 students. The courses of instruction are Arts and Sciences, Fine Arts, Law, Medicine, Pharmacy, Mechanical, Civil and Electrical Engineering, and Mining Geology.

OKLAHOMA AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE

The Agricultural and Mechanical College is located at Stillwater, Payne County. There are 1,000 acres in the campus and experimental farms. The courses of instruction are Agriculture, Engineering, Science and Literature, Domestic Science and Economy, Teacher Training and Business. The complete course in Agriculture requires four years, and there are short courses of two and three years.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OKLAHOMA

The present population is 2,027,564. The state has a total area of 70,057 square miles, 643 square miles being water. The extreme length from east to west is 479 miles and the width from north to south is 231 miles.

Soil and Climate Combine to Make Oklahoma a Great Farming State

DOWNTOWN IN TULSA

TULSA
BUSINESS DISTRICT

The Bromide Spring, Platt National Park, Cures Insomnia and All Manner of Nervous Troubles

Oklahoma was admitted as a state in 1907, being composed of the two territories of Oklahoma and Indian Territory.

There are no free government lands in Oklahoma.

Most of the state is prairie, being level in the western portion and rolling in the eastern. The southern portion is diversified with several ranges of mountains, which often rise up out of a level plain. The Wichita Mountains rise to an altitude of about 2,250 feet. The altitude of the state is about 400 feet above sea level in the southeastern portion, and rises gradually to about 5,000 feet at the New Mexico border.

THE PLATT NATIONAL PARK

The Platt National Park of 848 acres adjoining the city of Sulphur, contains a number of noted curative medicinal springs. On account of the mild climate, these springs can be visited any time of the year. Spring and fall are the most delightful times to come. The springs demonstrate their curative powers each year to the gratification of many invalids. Large quantities of the bottled water are shipped from Bromide and Medicine Springs.

WICHITA NATIONAL FOREST AND GAME PRESERVE

The Wichita Mountains are set aside as the Wichita National Forest and Game Preserve, and here the wild animals are protected and allowed to multiply. A herd of buffalo is also kept here. Mt. Scott, the highest peak in the Wichita Mountains, rises to an altitude of 2,250 feet.

OKLAHOMA CITY, THE METROPOLIS

Oklahoma City, largest in the state, is the capital. Its amazing development has prompted the admiration of the world, and noted writers have vied with each other in pen-portrayals of the spirit of the city. The following simple words by Herbert Quick, tell what Oklahoma City is:

"Oklahoma City is a real city now, with a powerful business life, a great population, and everything that any great city possesses. It is a greater city than was Athens in the Periclean age—greater in everything that makes for better human life. Like Athens, it is a commercial city; but, unlike the glory that was Greece, its greatness is based on a recognition of the principle of democracy—I know what some might say about that, but I mean real democracy. It is only one of a galaxy of cities in Oklahoma, all of them resting at bottom on the farmers of the state."

Oklahoma City today is the industrial, financial, agricultural, educational, political and jobbing center of the state.

TULSA, IN THE CENTER OF THE OIL DISTRICT

Tulsa, second largest city in the state, has had the most remarkable growth of any city in the country in recent years. Situated in the heart of the oil country, Tulsa capitalized upon its opportunities and from a town of 18,000 in 1910 has grown to a city of 72,000 in ten years. Other cities of importance are: Muskogee, Okmulgee, Shawnee, Ardmore, Bartlesville, Chickasha, Enid, Guthrie, McAlester, Lawton and Sapulpa.

OKLAHOMA HAS A WELCOME FOR ALL

Oklahoma offers everything that the seeker of the "end of the rainbow" may desire. No state in the Union has made greater progress, no state has more potential wealth, no state offers greater possibilities and no state extends a heartier welcome to the visitor or the newcomer. Jealous of the welfare of her own, Oklahoma finds in her heart room for the new citizen who will aid her advancement. To the stranger within her gates, the hospitality of a great state is given.

The Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce will be pleased to handle inquiries from those interested in the state or its beautiful Capital City.

GOOD ROADS FOR THE MOTORIST

In normal seasons the motorist will find very good roads through Oklahoma, especially along the through routes. The soil and climatic conditions are such that good dirt roads can be made and maintained the year round at very little expense or labor. Usually, dragging after the rains soon results in an excellent road. The ground does not freeze deep in the winter, so there is no spring break-up with resulting soft roads.

In the more thickly populated counties the good road feeling runs high and enthusiastic efforts are bearing fruit in fine hard-surfaced roads.

CLASON'S COMMERCIAL INDEX

OF OKLAHOMA CITIES AND TOWNS

EXPLANATION

POPULATION—In the column at the left of the name of the town, under the abbreviation "pop." are figures to denote the population.

COUNTIES—Following the name of the town is the name of the county in which it is located.

ELEVATIONS—Below the abbreviation "Alt." are figures indicating the altitude of the town above sea level.

KEY—The letter and figures in the right hand column under the word "Key" refer respectively to the letters on the top and bottom of the accompanying map, and the figures on each side of it; thus indicating the location of the town on the map.

RESOURCES—A brief description gives the industries and resources of the more important towns.

HOTELS—Under the larger towns are given the name of one or more hotels.
